The MOTOR CITY RADIO CLUB (MCRC) was founded in 1932 by Detroit area amateur radio operators.

The club currently has over 80 members from the Metro Detroit area. The MOTOR CITY RADIO CLUB is affiliated with the American Radio Relay League (ARRL), the national amateur radio organization. MCRC was named an ARRL Special Service Club because of its emergency preparedness program, its participation in the Amateur Radio Emergency Service Program, as well as its technical education classes, community involvement and new ham recruitment and training.
